

Port Royal Baptist Church

March 19, 2020

Neighbors and friends across the miles,

We hope this email finds you full of love, hope, and patience during these trying days. Lent has always been a season for soul-searching and reflection, and though we never expected this Lent to require so much of us, we can still give ourselves to that which God requires of us in this moment. The weekly worship habits of confession, patience, singing, listening, reading, praying, giving, and reflecting are more important now than ever. As we all learn together how to deal best with these circumstances, let us continually look to the life and example of Jesus, our Good Shepherd, even as we shepherd and care for one another across the miles.

As we prepare for another Sunday without gathering according to our custom, we hope the enclosed documents will be beneficial to you and yours. You should have an adapted-for-home worship guide for March 22 and an updated version of the PRBC Directory.

We will be emailing and postal mailing the worship guide for March 29 next week.

We are mailing you these documents because we are assuming you may prefer to receive hard copies, but if you would like us to send you a digital copy in the future, please let us know. You can let us know by emailing us at portroyalbaptist@gmail.com or dropping us a note at the church's Facebook page, "Port Royal Baptist Church - KY."

Grace and peace to you all,

Amber & John Inscore Essick
Co-pastors, Port Royal Baptist Church
